Holland Park Press, United Kingdom, 2013. Paperback. Condition: New. Language: N/A. Brand New Book. Where is my Mask of an Honest Man? is a powerful collection of short stories set in and around Notting Hill or W11. Though the stories share a common setting, they deal with a wide variety of issues and range from stark realism to the surreal. Dark Angel , part 1 set in 1951 and part 2 in 1982, could be seen as the author s commentary on her debut novel The Furnished Room, filmed by Michael Winner. It covers similar ground but now seen through the prism of the author s wickedly evolved style. Several of the other stories feature Kuhlman. In Rape of the Soul we find out whether Kuhlman really murdered Fr Quinlan with a ballpoint pen - or do we? In Notes on Time Kuhlman appears to have become a doctor and is observed through the eyes of one of his patients, or indeed it may well be the other way around. I was confounded. I am misanthropic because I cannot love humanity when the weight of its numbers oppresses and depresses me. Humans are all over the streets, the parks. They lack rarity value. The Woman with Crocodile Teeth is surreal, akin to a story by Franz Kafka. Yet while the woman in the title is clearly a monster, Dr Kuhlman - yes, him again - plays a dubious role too. The story is also a scathing comment on the plight of the elderly. J Krissman in the Park , included in the Best British Short Stories 2013, published by Salt Publishing, deals with the travails of an ageing writer, contemplating his rejections while surrounded by happy families in a park. The Professor A Katz Memorial Evening is a hilarious account...
