Censor, arraigning, with true Juvenalian severity, the conduct of a certain club, which, in the words of my correspondent, continues, in defiance of decency and good manners, to insult the public in large characters, in the front of every newspaper in town. This, he adds, moves my indignation the more, when I consider that several of its principal members are arrived at a period of life which should teach decorum, at least, if it does not extinguish vice. In answer to this angry correspondent, I will tell him the following story: Some years ago, I happened to be in York at the time of the assizes. Dining one day in a tavern with some gentlemen of that city and its neighbourhood, we were violently disturbed by the noise of somebody below, who hooted and hallooed, smacked his whip, and made his servants sound their French horns; in...
