Springer. Paperback. Book Condition: New. Paperback. 307 pages. Dimensions: 9.4in. x 6.3in. x 0.7in. The 12th International Basement Tectonics Conference was hosted by the School of Geology and Geophysics and the Oklahoma Geological Survey in the Sarkeys Energy Center on the campus of the University of Oklahoma, Norman, Oklahoma, U. S. A., from May 21st through May 26th, 1995. A total of 52 individuals were in attendance, 9 of which were attending from 6 different foreign countries. Four days of oral and poster presentations were divided into four technical sessions with the following themes: 1) Fracture Development, Reactivation, and Mineralization, organized by M. I. Bartholomew and S. Marshak; 2) Evolution of the Basement of the North American Plate (with special emphasis on its southern margin), organized by R. E. Denison and E. G. Lidiak; 3) Probing of Basement: Geophysical and Geochemical Methods, organized by R. A. Young and G. R. Keller; and 4) Response of Cover Rocks to Basement Deformation, organized by P. Berendsen and M. P. Carlson. Seventy-five presentations were made during the course of the meeting, which was organized by Program Chairman M. Charles Gilbert and professionally managed by Sara Moody. Preceding the meeting was a two-day field trip to examine the mode and kinematics of terrane accretion during closure of an ocean basin, as preserved in the Precambrian geology of the eastern Llano Uplift, Texas, U. S. A. The field trip leaders Sharon Mosher, Mark Helper, Don Barker, and Robert Reed provided an excellent and comprehensive guidebook, and shared their considerable expertise in many discussions at one spectacular exposure after another. All registrants participated in the mid-conference field trip guided by R. E. Denison, E. G. Lidiak, M. C. Gilbert, and John P. Hogan to examine the Precambrian and Cambrian basement terranes exposed in the Arbuckle Mountains uplift in southern Oklahoma, U. S. A. Evidence for a possible continental arc setting for the southern margin of the 1.4 Ga Granite-Rhyolite Terrane, the opening of the Cambrian Southern Oklahoma Aulacogen as evidenced by a spectacular exposure of a diabase dike swarm, and the role of earlier tectonic fabrics in the development of younger structures were some of the topics of discussion. The two-day post-conference field trip to the Wichita Mountains uplift, southwestern Oklahoma, U. S. A. was led by M. Charles Gilbert, and John P. Hogan. This trip highlighted the Cambrian Southern Oklahoma Aulacogen. This item ships from multiple locations. Your book may arrive from Roseburg, OR, La Vergne, TN. Paperback.
