Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Excerpt from The Mormon Menace: A Discourse Before the New West Education Commission, on Its Fifth Anniversary at Chicago November 15 1885 The first of these writings affirms the loss of divine favor to whatever scheme of colonization or state-building that attempts to carry by covering up a great iniquity. The brilliant opening of Joshua s campaign for the possession of the land was checked by the bad faith of one man in trying to make gain out of something God had given over to destruction. No more success against the enemy till the sin of Achan, his agreed for the spoils, was avenged. The forbidden thing in the midst of the camp of our New West cluster of coming states, indexed by this occasion as with burning finger-point, is the Mormon menace. The second writing named is a patriotic prayer, good for all time when any scourge, like locusts to the oriental farmer, has smitten the land. Spare Thy people O Lord, and give not thine heritage to reproach. No sentiment is more deeply imbedded in...
