Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Excerpt from Annual Report of the Department of Agriculture: For the Year Ending November 30, 1923 1. Apple Grading. - The law on apple grading and packing, which appears as sections 100 to 114 of Chapter 94 of the General Laws, has been in force for eight years. Experience indicates that some amendments to the law are desirable. Complaints have been made against the requirement of section 102 that other marks than those indicating the grade shall not be more conspicuous on the package than the marks required by law, because this requirement limits the use of colored brands, labels and private marks. It seems sufficient that the marks required by law shall be according to the law and the regulations made by this department pursuant to the law, and the repeal of the requirement in question is therefore recommended. As the law now reads, it does not state specifically at what time and by whom closed packages shall be marked. An amendment to section 104 is recommended to make such marking obligatory upon the packer or repacker at the time of packing or repacking. 2. Inspection of Dairy Products. - The division of Dairying and Animal Husbandry finds its authority under section 14 of chapter 128 of the General Laws inadequate for the enforcement of laws relating to substitutes for butter. It is recommended that this section be strengthened so as to make the work of the department in this field more effective, and that provision be made for the issuance of search warrants for oleomargarine in imitation of yellow butter. 3. Marking of Milk Cans and Containers. - By sections 2 and 3 of chapter...
